

2020 BC ELECTION ACTION: SUGGESTED SOCIAL MEDIA POSTS

Twitter

#COVID19 is significantly impacting people living with #ChronicPain who are at risk of being left behind in BC's recovery. We need the support and leadership of BC politicians this #BCelxn2020

Did you know polling by @angusreidorg shows most British Columbians say our health care system is doing a poor job of meeting the needs of the 1 in 5 people living with #ChronicPain? We need action now from BC politicians. #BCelxn2020

Anxiety and social isolation from #COVID19 are hurting people who already live with the daily challenges of #ChronicPain. [Tag your candidate here], we need your commitment to improving care for the 1 million British Columbians living with pain. #BCelxn2020

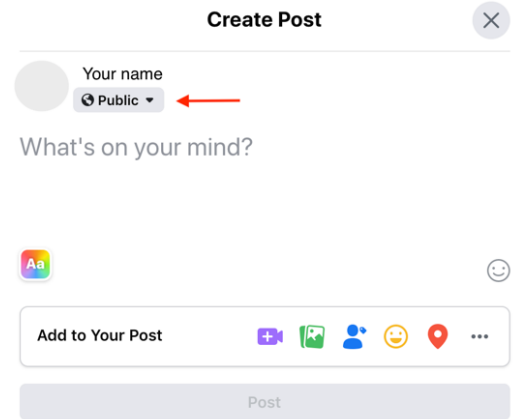

#COVID19 has reduced my ability to access treatments I previously used to manage #ChronicPain. [Tag your candidate here], if elected, will you act to make sure the 1 million British Columbians who live with pain aren't left behind in BC's recovery? #BCelxn2020

Did you know that unmanaged #ChronicPain is a significant driver of substance use, making the lack of access to pain care during #COVID19 a contributing factor to BC's worsening #OverdoseCrisis? [Tag your candidate here], people living with pain need your help now. #BCelxn2020

Facebook

Note: Make sure your Facebook post is set to “Public” so that local candidates can see it!

You can also tag the candidate in your post by typing “@[Candidate’s name]” or leave a visitor post on a candidate’s Facebook page.

COVID-19 is significantly impacting people living with chronic pain by worsening income inequality, reducing access to pain treatments, increasing social isolation, and more. People with pain are at risk of being left behind in BC’s recovery. [Tag your candidate here], if elected, what will you do to make sure this doesn’t happen? #BCelxn2020

The anxiety and social isolation from COVID-19 are causing me increased disability as a person who already lives with the daily challenges of chronic pain. [Tag your candidate here], during #BCelxn2020, I need your commitment to improving care for the 1 million British Columbians like me who live with pain.

Did you know recent polling by Angus Reid Institute showed most British Columbians think our health care system is doing a poor job of meeting the needs of the 1 in 5 people living with chronic pain in our province? We need action now from BC politicians. #BCelxn2020

COVID-19 has drastically reduced my ability to access treatments that previously helped me manage chronic pain. During #BCelxn2020, I call on BC leaders to act now and make sure the 1 million British Columbians like me who live with pain aren't left behind in BC’s recovery.

Did you know that unmanaged chronic pain is a significant driver of substance use, making the lack of access to pain care during COVID-19 a contributing factor to BC’s worsening overdose crisis? [Tag your candidate here], how do you plan to help people living with unmanaged pain and prevent overdose deaths? #BCelxn2020